Forecast For Strathclyde
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 0400 on Wednesday 03 Mar 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Clear or sunny in the west. More cloud in east.

Today:
Cloud probably lingering for most of the day across the Central Belt, especially east of Glasgow. Brighter in the west with the best of the sunshine across Argyll and Ayrshire. Light winds. Maximum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Tonight:
Clear spells across most of Argyll with a touch of frost. Mainly cloudy elsewhere with a chance of the odd shower later. Minimum temperature 0 deg C (32 deg F).

Thursday:
A little brightness across Argyll at first, otherwise a cloudy morning with a few showers. Becoming dry with sunny spells developing in the afternoon. Maximum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Widespread frost then mainly dry with sunny spells on Friday. Largely dry on Saturday and Sunday but some rain at times in the west.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.